EDITORIALS

Year after year, the International Multihull Show has established itself as a major event in the global boating world. It continues to strengthen its position as the leading international trade show dedicated to multihulls, both sailing or power.

This new edition, organized by the F.I.N. and M2O, brings together industry professionals - boatbuilders, equipment manufacturers, architects, charter companies, and service providers - around a rich, innovative, and international offering. The International Multihull Show is also expanding, opening of a third marina and a new layout designed to support growing demand while further enhancing the visitor experience.

A true game changer in the boating landscape, multihulls are attracting an ever-growing audience thanks to their ability to meet the expectations of new boaters by offering more space, comfort, stability, ease of use, and better environmental performance.

For more excellent news, several world premieres are expected at the show. The International Multihull Show in La Grande Motte is the place to discover the very latest innovations in the multihulls market, and we are particularly proud to showcase them in Occitanie, a region with a long-standing boating tradition. We hope that this show will provide an opportunity for everyone to meet, explore new opportunities, and renew their confidence in the future.

Bon salon everyone!

Jean-Paul Chapeleau,

President of the Fédération des Industries Nautiques

EDITORIALS

The 2025 edition will undoubtedly go down as record-setting - a momentum that continues into 2026, with ever more multihulls on display. Among the highlights, the unstoppable rise of the powercat segment stands out as a defining trend. It reflects changing usage patterns and opens up new perspectives. At the same time, the presence of increasingly large units is prompting us to expand the show's boundaries and open a third marina.

This edition also marks a turning point in the show's history, with a new layout and a repositioned entrance connecting the exhibition directly to the heart of La Grande-Motte. These developments are reshaping the visitor experience and paving the way for the years ahead.

While the show continues to evolve, its DNA and ambitions remain unchanged: to present, afloat, a comprehensive and diverse panorama of the multihull world, and ashore, to offer a platform for the entire industry - equipment manufacturers, service companies, naval architects, and more.

Driven by a spirit of innovation, industry players are exploring ever more inventive ways to deliver responsible sailing solutions: hybrid propulsion, improved energy management, new materials... developments shaping today's multi hulls and paving the way for those of tomorrow. To discover what lies ahead, don't miss the Multihull Design & Innovation Area, a true incubator for the future of boating.

Welcome to this 17th edition, under the banner of renewal!

International Multihull Show Director

MOTTE

2026 marks a new milestone for the International Multihull Show in La Grande-Motte. Alongside a renewed management team at M2Organisation and Jean-Paul Chapeleau, President of the French Nautical Industries Federation, the City of La Grande-Motte is proud to renew its commitment and support the development of this major event.

A true international showcase, the show perfectly illustrates the appeal of our destination, both in maritime terms and in addressing the challenges of innovation, industrial performance, design, and sustainable technological solutions. These are all areas fully aligned with the policies we are pursuing, particularly through the ambitious transformation of our tourism offering. This momentum has been recognized with the awarding of the Green Destinations label, establishing La Grande-Motte as a global benchmark for excellence in sustainable tourism.

This recognition further enhances the attractiveness of our city, which we continue to develop—particularly by hosting congresses, exhibitions, and international events throughout the year.

True to its pioneering spirit, La Grande-Motte provides an ideal setting for this new edition of the show, whose layout and facilities have been redesigned to adapt to the modernization works of the port area as part of the Ville-Port Project.

I would like to warmly thank all the stakeholders, partners, and teams involved, whose commitment contributes, year after year, to the remarkable success of this event. Finally, I invite everyone to fully enjoy this must-attend event in the world of multihulls: to discover, exchange, and be inspired.

Enjoy the show !

Stéphane Rossignol,

Mayor of La Grande-Motte and President of the Pays de l'Or Agglomération Community

EDITORIALS

In 2026, the International Multihull Show is writing a new chapter in its history in La Grande-Motte, and the Occitanie Region is proud to be part of it. From April 22 to 26, this international show - unique in the world - will showcase the innovation, expertise, and appeal of our region. It promises to be an exceptional edition.

The marine industry is a key sector for our economy and our identity. Through the 2024-2027 Nautical Industries and Services strategic plan, the Occitanie Region has chosen to actively support stakeholders in this field: boatbuilders, equipment manufacturers, ports, and tourism professionals. Events such as the La Grande-Motte show are essential tools for promoting our companies, attracting investors, and strengthening Occitanie's image as a leading destination for recreational boating. Once again this year, the show will confirm its international reach: 20% new international exhibitors, premieres of electric and hybrid multihulls, and a dedicated innovation space, the Multihull Design & Innovation Area.

The showcase illustrates how our sector is rising to tomorrow's challenges: ecological transition, technological performance, and the attractiveness of careers. I would like to commend the energy of the organizers, who have redesigned the event to offer visitors an evensmoothen experience. With an entrance located in the heart of the port, additional pontoons, and an optimized visitor route, the show will be more accessible and more immersive than ever. It is also a wonderful opportunity to discover the treasures of our Mediterranean coastline, where maritime tradition meets modernity.

Finally, this edition is an opportunity to reaffirm a strong message: Occitanie is a region where the marine industry has a bright future. With the growth of the multihull market, the development of alternative propulsion systems, and the dynamism of our ports, we have all the assets needed to remain leaders. And to achieve this, we are counting on you - professionals, enthusiasts, and citizens alike - to bring this collective ambition to life.

President of the Occitanie/Pyrénées-Méditerranée Region
